TENEMENTS GRANTED AND APPOINTMENT OF HYDROGEOLOGICAL CONSULTANT

Highlights

- Key tenements have been granted for the Mackay Sulphate of Potash Project
- Notice of Works Program has been submitted to the native title service provider
- Appointment of a highly experienced Hydrogeological Consultant

Agrimin Limited (ASX: AMN) (“Agrimin” or “the Company”) is pleased to announce that four of the five Western Australian tenement applications for the Mackay Project have been granted by the Department of Mines and Petroleum through an expedited process. This follows the signing of the Land Access Agreement between Agrimin and Tjamu Tjamu (Aboriginal Corporation) RNTBC in December 2014.

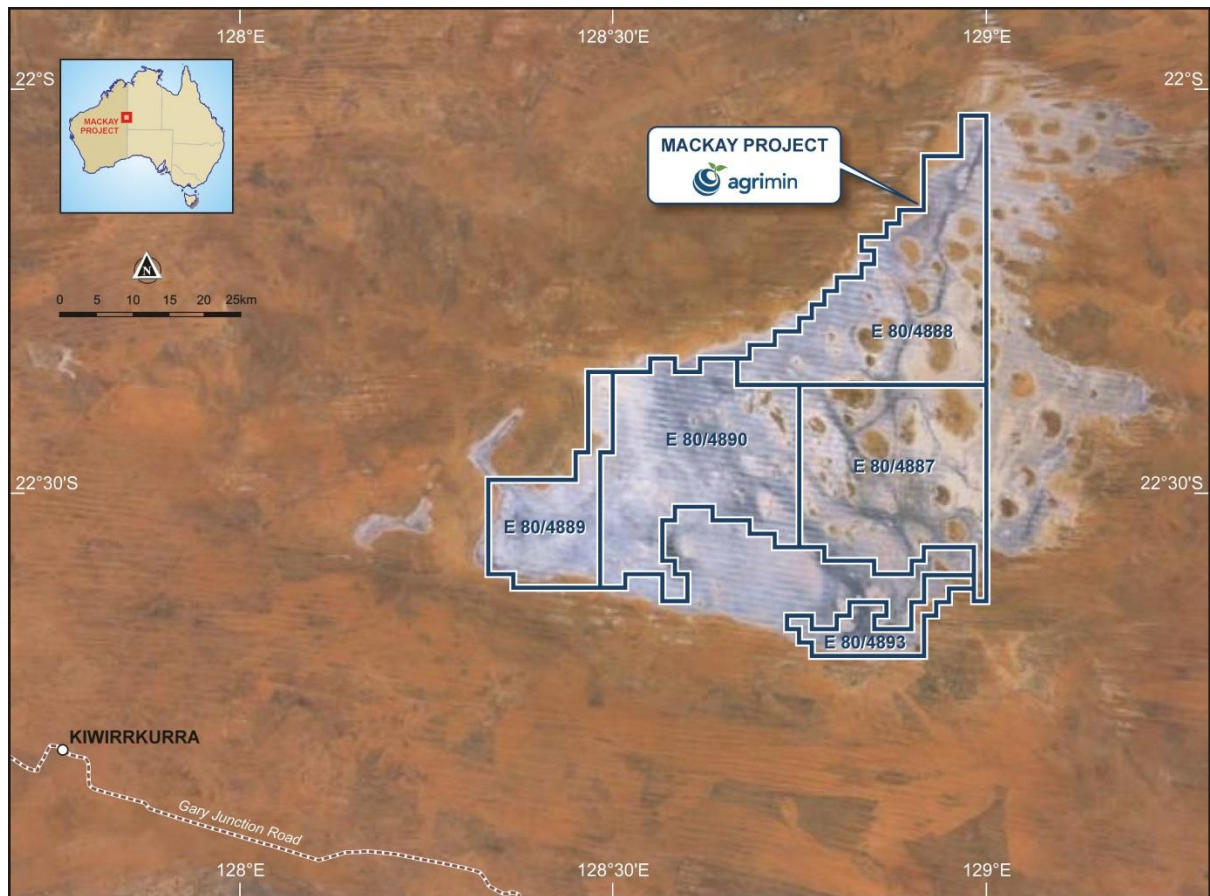

Tenements E80/4887, E80/4889, E80/4890 and E80/4893 have been granted. The fifth Western Australian tenement E80/4888 is expected to be granted in the coming months (Figure 1). Agrimin has now submitted a Notice of Works Program to the native title service provider and is progressing through the standard approvals process to allow for on-ground exploration activities.

Agrimin is also pleased to announce the appointment of Mr Murray Brooker as Hydrogeological Consultant for the Mackay Project. Mr Brooker is the principal Geologist and Hydrogeologist of Hydrominex Geoscience Consulting. He has 25 years of global experience in exploration and project evaluation.

Mr Brooker has significant experience in geological and hydrogeological assessments of salt lake lithium and potassium brine projects in Northern Argentina and Chile. His major projects currently include the producing Salar de Olaroz Project owned by Orocobre Limited.

Mark Savich, Executive Director of Agrimin said “We are delighted to have been able to attract someone of Murray’s calibre and experience with brine-hosted deposits. His appointment is already adding considerable value as we prepare for our 2015 work program.”
